HALKSHILL

List 25 — c.1815. In the style of David Hamilton. 2 storey, 7-bay house with classical detail, originally conceived as stable block. Raised central pedimented bay slightly advanced with broad panelled angle pilasters. Central and outer bays painted ashlar, inner bays squared whinstone with painted ashlar dressings, centre pilastered door with sidelights, 1st floor window above, all in shallow round-headed panel; oval panels with birds in spandrels; blind oculus in pediment, capped by domed birdcage bellcote. Ground and first floor windows in outer bays in shallow basket-arched panels, ground floor windows in architraves, raised segmental heads to 15-pane windows above. Mainly 12-pane sashes. 1st floor windows in inner bays with raised heads breaking eaves band. Cornice and blocking course. 2 symmetrically placed stacks and piended slate roof. Wings return eastwards to form U-plan; harled south east corner curved. E elevation of central block has tall stair window under gabled amd latticed canopy; pediment above is recessed.
First floor window lintels were raised later in the 19th Century.
Interior: Entrance hall with engaged Corinthian columns supporting basket arch with coffered soffit; cantilevered stair with decorative cast-iron balusters, curved door below leading to rear lobby with 'forget-me-not' mosaic floor. Panelled doors in reeded architraves, basket arched wall recesses in dining room and drawing room, latter large, with flanking Corinthian pilasters supporting entablature. Simply decorated cornices with guilloche and Greek key ornament.
Refs: SRO RHP 280,456, 12805. 'Scott's of Greenock - 2 Centuries of Shipbuilding', 1906, p.xi. Greenock Telegraph 29.5.1895. Halkshill estate purchased from Brisbane estate trustees in 1815 by John Scott, shipbuilder, Greenock. B.

Davis — Of unusual design, 'in the style of David Hamilton' (SDD list), Halkshill is thought to have been built c.1815 for the Scott family, shipbuilders from Greenock. the land was purchased from the Brisbane Trustees in 1815. It appears on Aitken's map of 1827 as the residence of J Scott, Esqr. The long, symmetrical front elevation has as centrepiece a raised pediment, crowned in turn with a belfry. The whole composition, with two wings to the rear creating a U-plan, is highly reminiscent of a spectacular and grand stable-court. There is no doubt, however, that it was built as a large and impressive residence. The policies, though much reduced by housing developments which now crowd around, are still sufficient to provide a setting for the house.

SUMMER HOUSE (to West)

List 26 — Mid C19. octagonal plan Gothick summerhouse. Ashlar. Pointed-headed hoodmoulded window to each face. Gothick panelled door, with pointed-headed fanlight, approached by steps on E face. Bracketed heavy eaves. Faceted slate roof. On 1855 OS. B.

Davis — A Victorian, octagonal gazebo or look-out tower, outwith the present policies, survives on a high ridge overlooking the house. It is now encroached upon by a housing estate, although it retains a roof and its stonework is still very crisp. An imaginative scheme might save the gazebo as the centrepiece of a small house.

97, HAYLIE HOUSE

List 24 — Foundation stone for rebuilding laid November 1885. Asymmetrical 2-storey and attic house; harled, with ashlar dressings and low later C19 rubble built outbuildings extending to N. West elevation has 5 bays with additional gabled wing at left. 2 storey off-centre, semi-circular bay with 3 windows to each storey, central bipartites, pierced bracketed balcony to 1st floor window. Entrance in 3-storey tower in re-entrant angle at left. Door, with bracketed cornice, single window above and bipartite in each face of top storey. Broad projecting eaves with paired brackets and piended slate roof with iron finial. 2 outer right bays, bipartites in outer bays, with bracketed cornice over ground floor window. All upper sashes with decorative glazing pattern; 1st floor windows all shouldered. String course over ground floor and 1st floor cill course. All roofs have projecting eaves with paired brackets. Piended slate roofs throughout. Built for R Brown of Hailie. Ref: LMN 14.11.1885. CS.

Davis — This romantically situated Italianate villa atop a high wooded cliff was built in 1885 for R Brown of Hailie. The present house occupies the site of an older house (square on plan), demolished when the new house was built. This older house is presumably that which appeared on Aitken's map of 1827. Haylie House is now a home for the elderly. There is a substantial, if relatively plain, LODGE of probably the same date as the house.
