AP, 8.7.1881 (In AP, F 3.7.1931, 2c: Fifty Years Ago)

The lethargy which has for nearly twenty years characterised the feuing of ground on the peninsula on which Troon is situated is now thrown aside since the advent of the accession of the young Duke of Portland. During the deadlock of his predecessor it was with the utmost difficulty as much could be obtained as would suffice for a police office and a lifeboat house. An extensive builder from Glasgow has just broken ground, and already shown commendable energy in entering upon the utilisation for building purposes of the beautiful meadow, so long the ornament of Troon and a great attraction of visitors thither. The ground is feued by James Dickie, Esq., a wealthy native of Troon, who is well-known in Paisley, owing to his having been for several years lessee and tenant of Ralston House. He has feued a large portion of a meadow bordering on the beach where, in days of yore there was a great ropework of Troon. Speaking of this, it may be stated that the large loft of the ropework was in 1820 used as a preaching station, there being at the time no church nearer than Dundonald. On a Sabbath evening when the minister had drawn the service to a close, the congregation found themselves isolated from terra firma in consequence of the water having risen several feet above the foundation. When descending the ladder the pioneer of the flock found himself up to the loins in sea water. The minister gave out a psalm and predicted that the water would, as in the days of Noah, soon be assuaged. This however did not satisfy one of the company, for he waded out, brought his horse and cart, and had the whole of the flock removed to green pastures.
