DAILLY
GENERAL NOTES and VILLAGE

NAME

Johnston 1625, Daylie: Gaelic, dealge, thorns.
W F H Nicolaisen, in Scots Magazine n.s., vol.88, no.2, November 1967, p.185
1323 Dalmakerane; 1404 Dalmulkerance. Gaelic dail mhaoil-Chiaran, the river-meadow of St Ciaran's servant. Believes Dailly to be a shortening of Dalmaolkeran, and not a separate name.

Census 1831 'The parish of Dailly has decreased in population attributed to the non-residence of the principal land-owner. Of the labourers not agricultural, 11 are quarrymen and 42 are colliers.'
