North Ayrshire Schools PPP. Keppie Design, as architects, planners and interior designers for each of the four schools included in the £65m PPP schools project, adapted a design process that benefited from the close collaboration of North Ayrshire Council, their advisers and the teachers.

St Matthew's Academy in Saltcoats and Greenwood Academy in Dreghorn are both large secondary schools, while Stanley Primary in Ardrossan is a two-stream primary school with integrated nursery facilities. On the island of Arran, the new Arran High School will be a community orientated secondary school. All will get the benefit of 21st Century education facilities, and at the same time the design approach allows each school to develop its own individual identity.

Financial Close was obtained in early march this year, and work began on all four sites with the target completion and occupation dates programmed for August to October 2007.
