NEW ROAD, 2-4(and 1 WEAVER STREET) UNIONIST CLUB
AA 10.7.1890 The club first met in a hall in Weaver Street
AA 16.10.1890 We understand that a site has been acquired for the erection of a Unionist Working Mens Club at the head of Main Street, Newton.
AA 5.2.1891 Designs by James A Morris & Hunter unanimously selected; 2nd Murdoch, and 3rd Mercer. The exterior treatment is based upon the old Scotch work of the C18. The main front, looking down Main Street, has a large bay window on the ground floor forming a pleasant feature in the club reading room. On the floor above are three large windows lighting the anteroom of the hall, and from which the balcony over the bay can be reached. The 3rd storey on this front has a decorative timber and plaster gable which will form a very prominent and characteristic feature in the architecture of this end of Main Street. The New Road front shows the principal entrance to club in centre under a semi-circular arch, and also the principal entrance to hall at the north end of this front. The windows on ground floor light the billiard room, committee room and side of reading room, while the windows on the first floor of this front light principally the hall. The Weaver Street front shows the second entrance to the club, which also serves as entrance to club-keepers house. [Description of interior plan]. The design both externally and internally is compact and homelike, as a club should be, and we believe that the new building will be found comfortable and commodious and easily worked in all its varied uses.

AA, [Engineers Letter Books] John Eaglesham 20.3.1891 to Morris & Hunter: On other side is the information you ask for regarding the main sewers at site of Unionist Club as nearly as I can give it. Being much engaged yesterday and today i have only got time to answer your letter. [Sketch of drains].
